Data Integration Support Center

WestEd

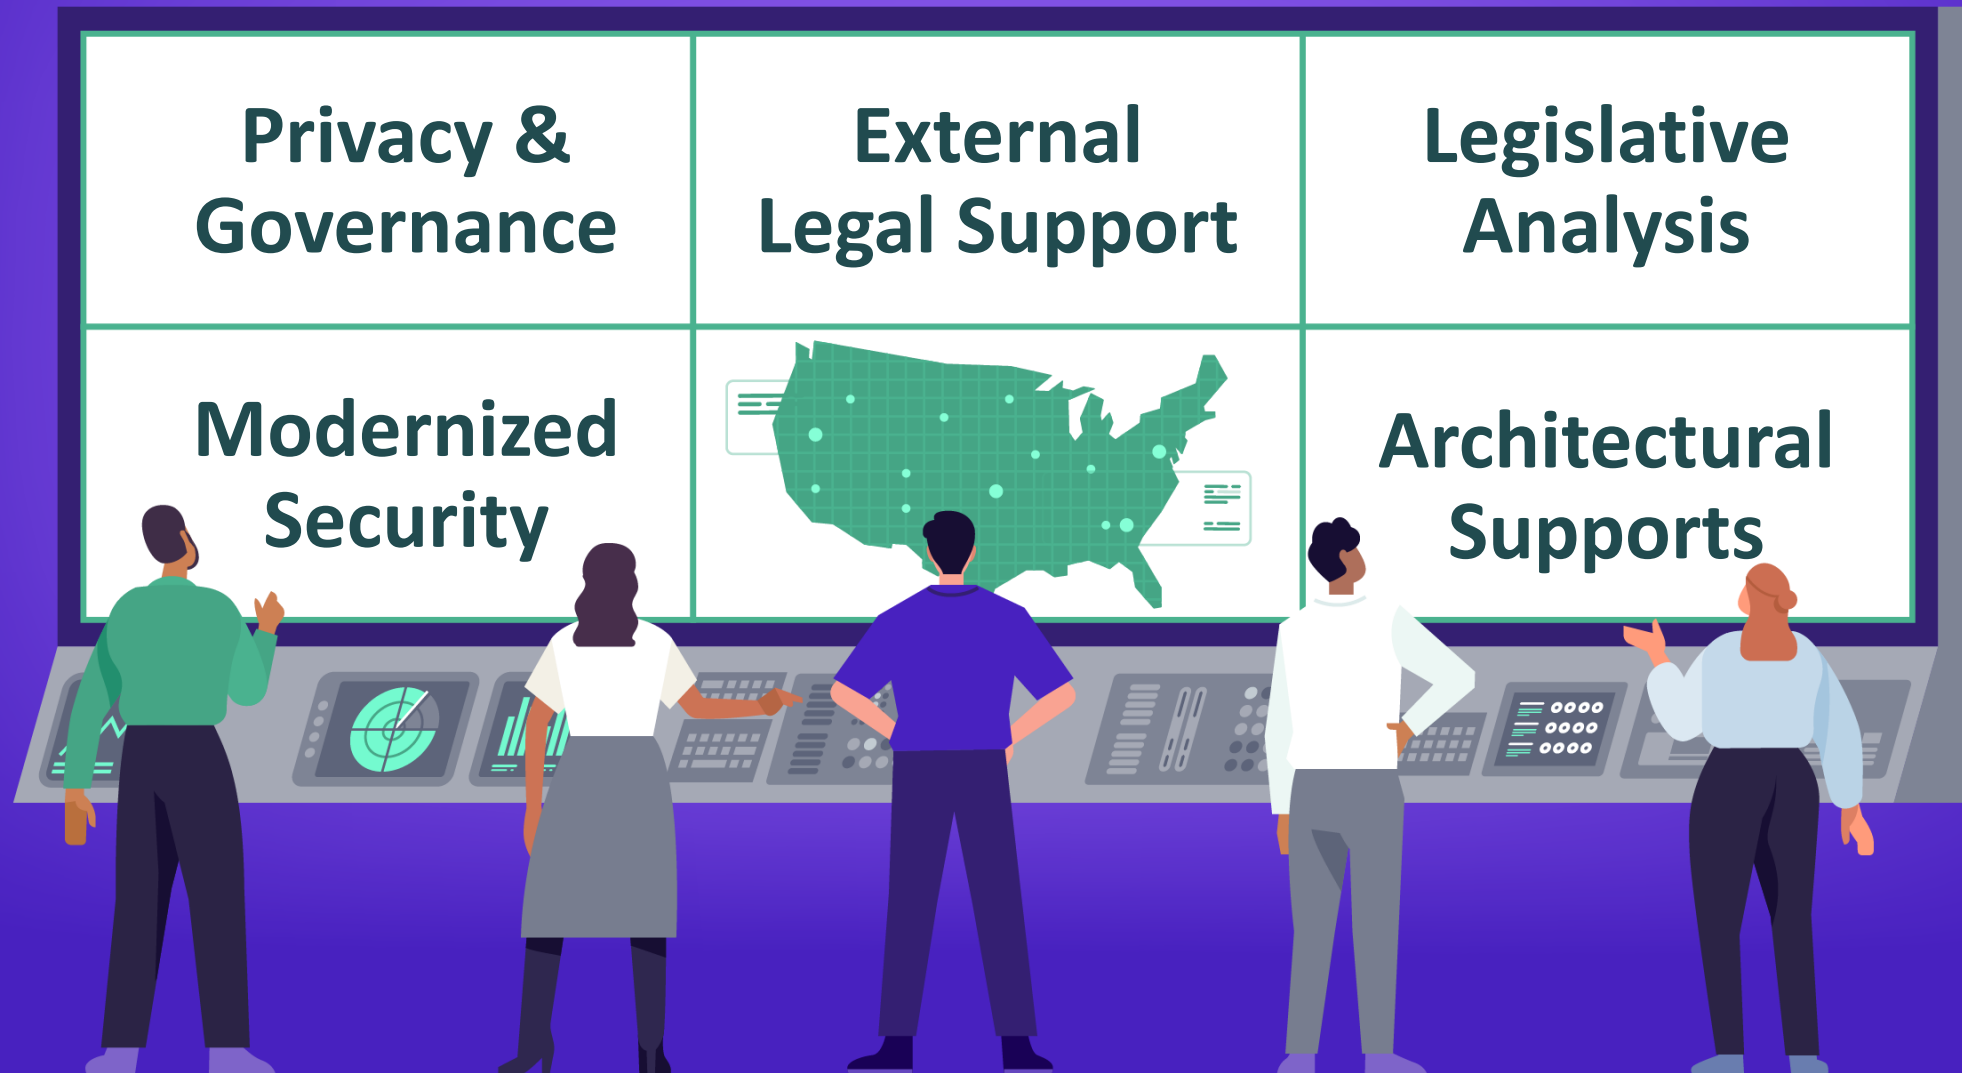

Public agencies have to navigate the complexities of state and federal privacy and security regulations alongside incomplete and inequitable data, burdensome legal structures, and outdated technical architectures.

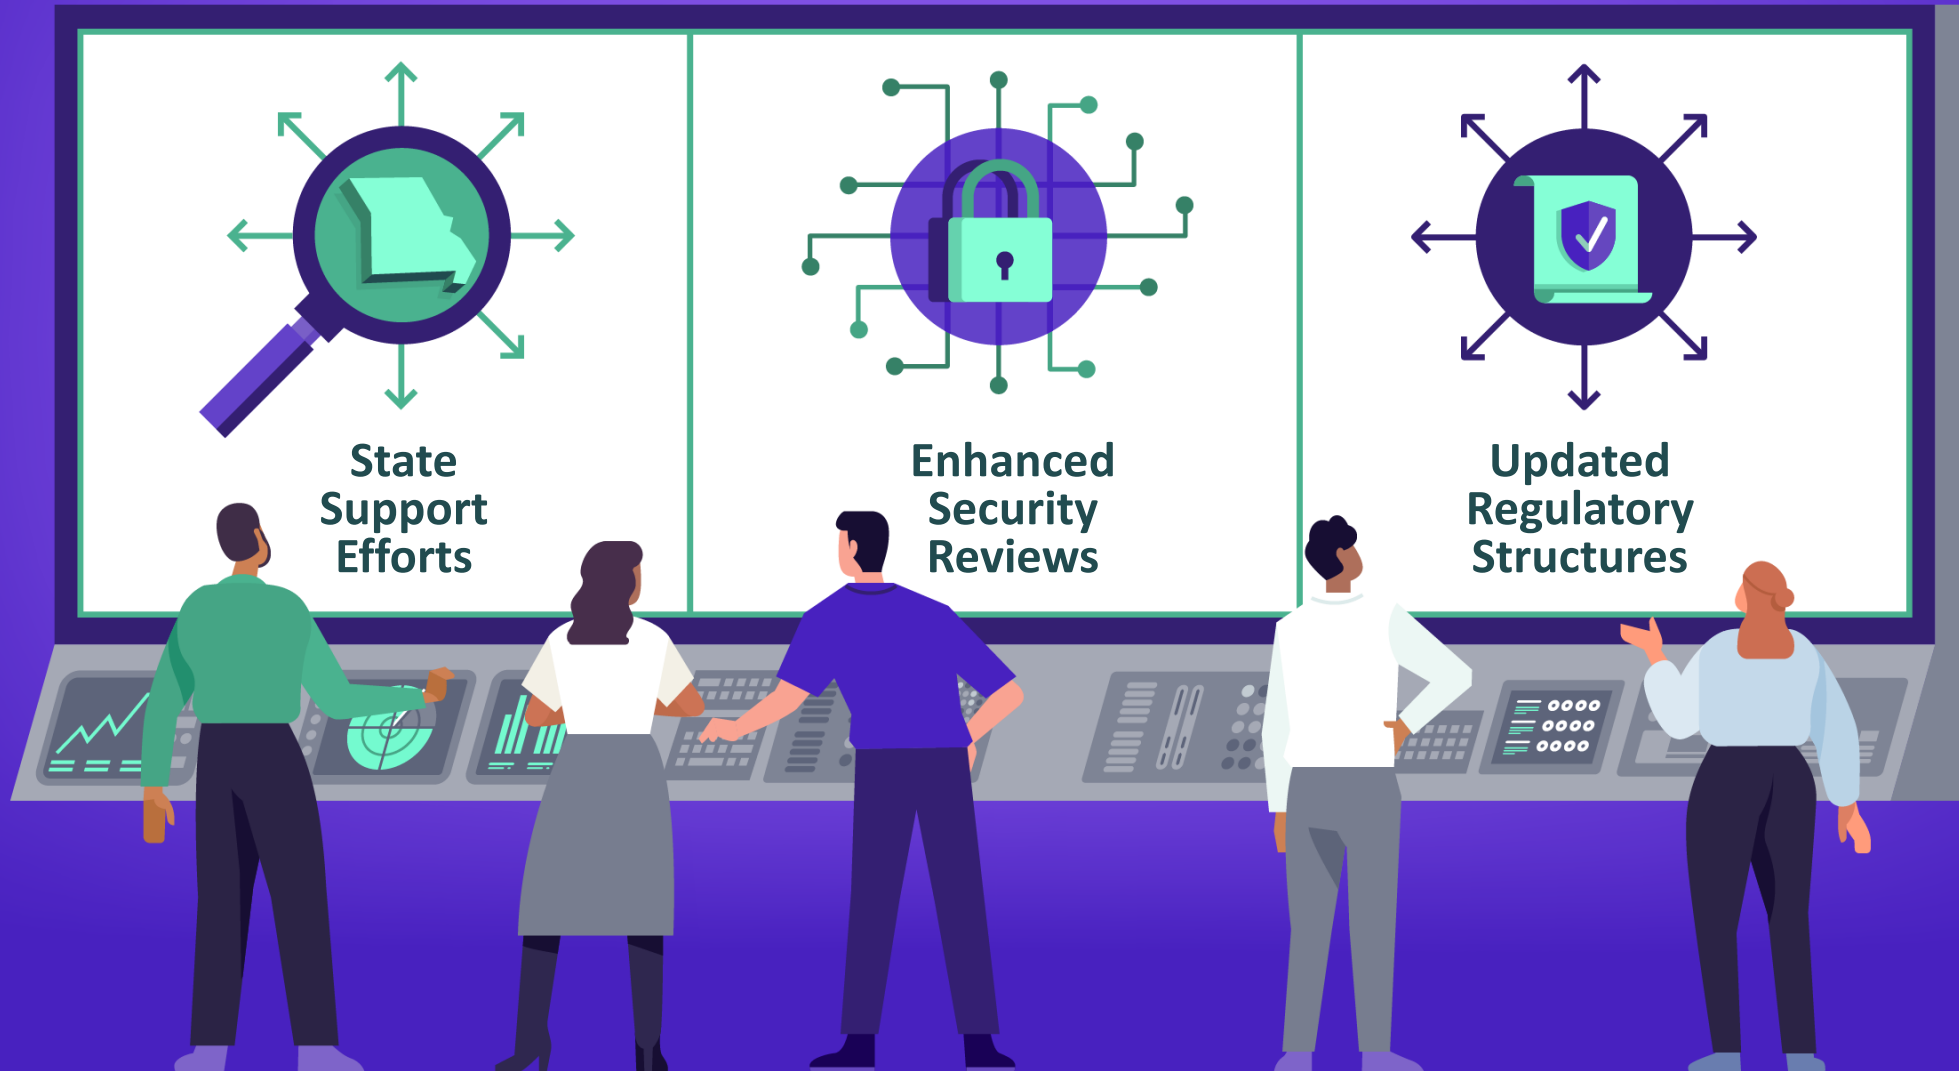

Integrating cross-sector data also requires legal expertise in cross-sector laws and understanding the nuances of individual states' needs.

Our holistic approach focuses on privacy and governance, external, and modernized security & architectural supports.

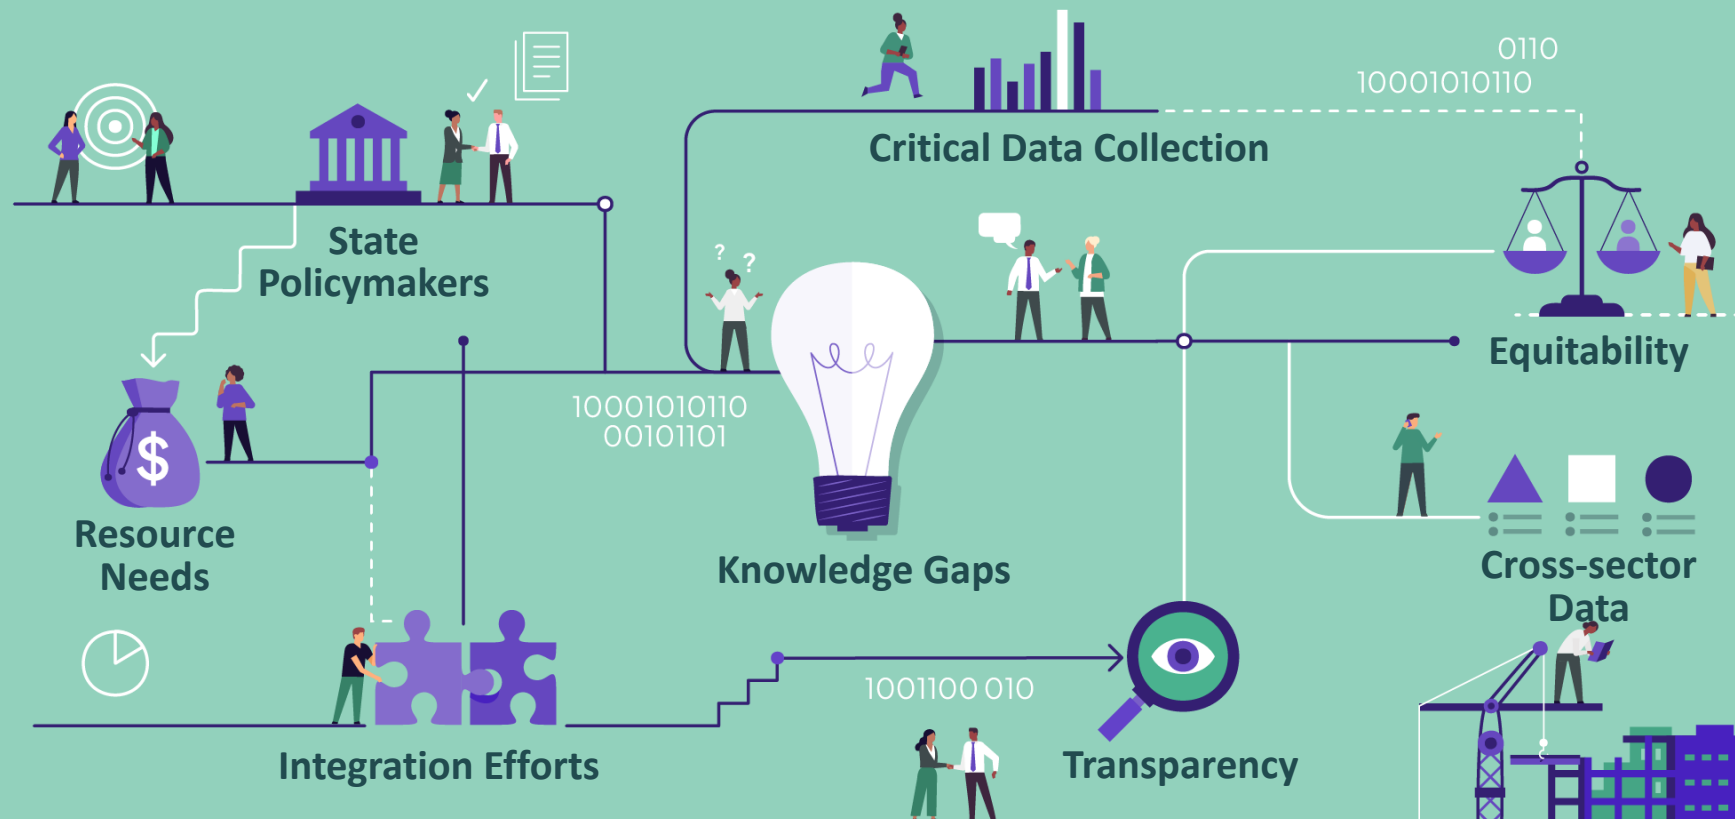

This helps us deliver support for state efforts, enhanced security reviews, and aiding partners in updating regulatory structures to provide a clear path to IDS success.

We understand that these complex and unique systems are built for state policymakers and their citizens.

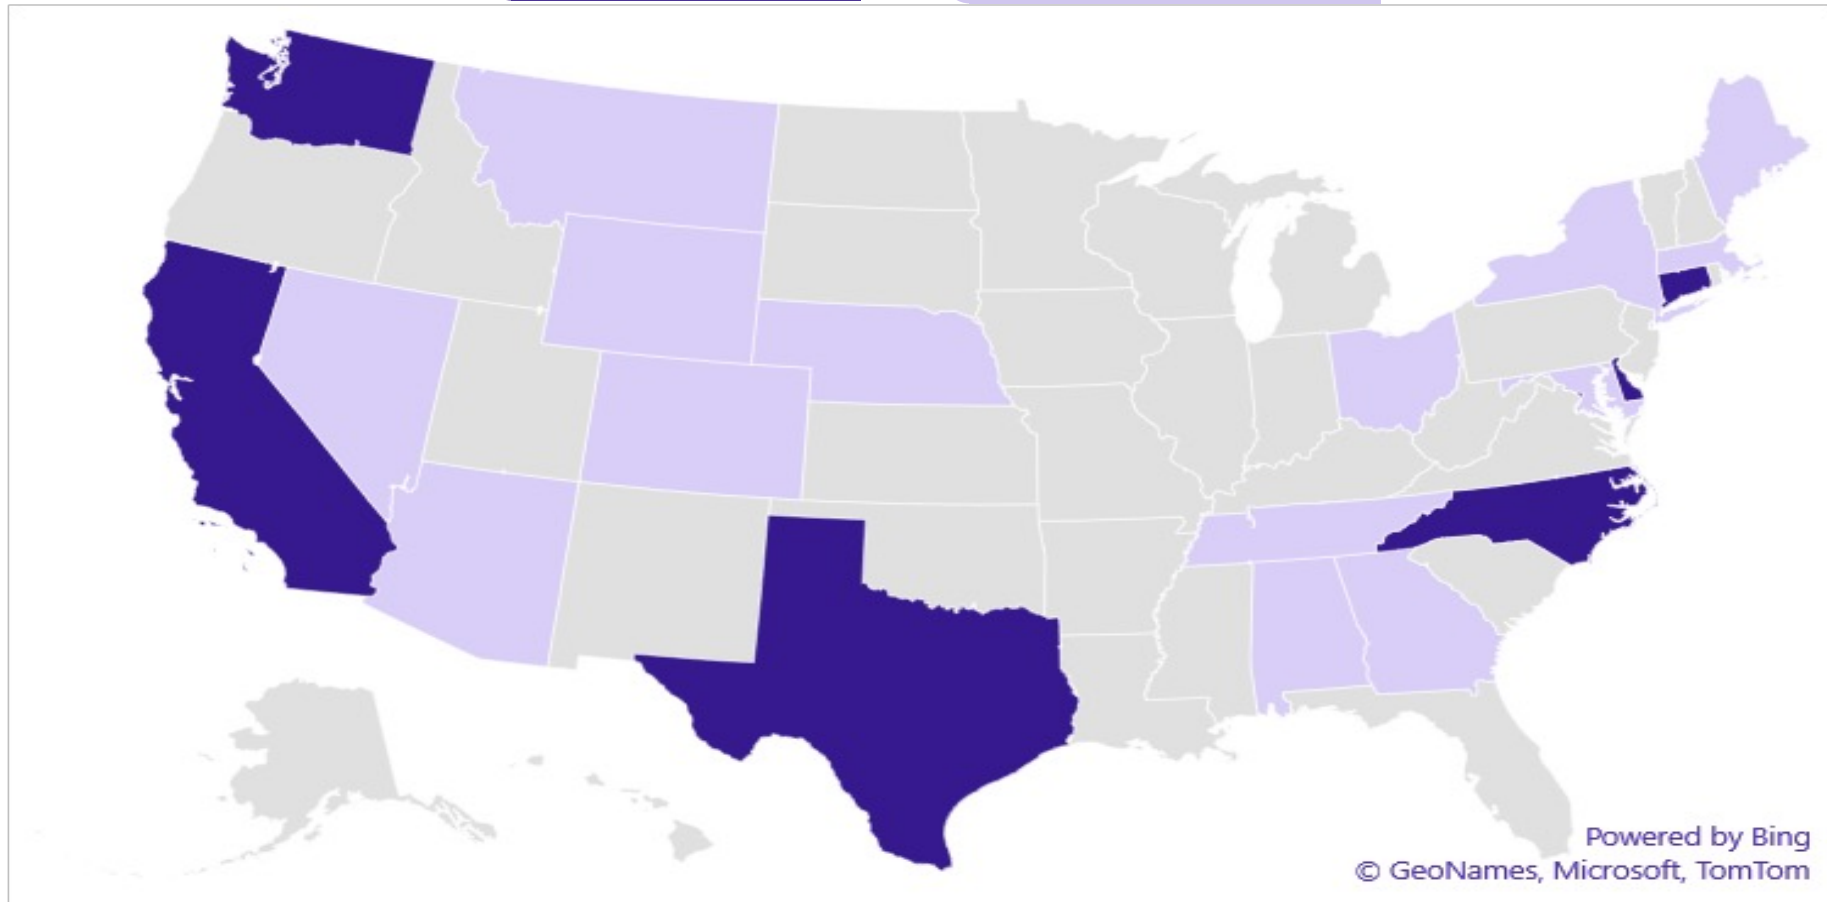

Our thought partnership and expertise addresses knowledge gaps, resource needs, critical data collection and integration efforts, creating consistent and secure cross sector data that is transparent and equitable for all.
